

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

March 14, 2006

BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND**

Brooklyn indie band Fake Brain returns to the Bowery Poetry Club to present an encore engagement of their bizarre original comic book rock spectacle:
“Dr. Wei Wei and The Fake Brain”

SIX SHOWS! WEDNESDAYS, THURSDAYS & FRIDAYS IN MAY:
MAY 10, 11, 12 & MAY 17, 18, 19

The fantastical story of a band, a mad scientist and an evil robot:
Semi-autobiographical, fully dysfunctional and completely absurd.

After their debut run at The Bowery Poetry Club sold out all three shows, Fake Brain returns to perform the show for six nights in May 2006.

Originally a comic book that the band distributed at gigs, “Dr. Wei Wei and The Fake Brain” has grown into a multimedia, multi-disciplinary endeavor, complete with elaborate costumes and video-projected animation. The story is told through nearly twenty songs, all performed live by Fake Brain with special guests.

Follow the band as they become transformed into tiny, naked versions of themselves, serve the maniacal whims of a perverted “Wall Street guy,” and then undergo a hallucinatory quasi-religious experience with a dead blues singer.

The shows will be performed at The Bowery Poetry Club (308 Bowery, New York, NY 10012, Tel: 212.614.0505) May 10th, 11th, 12th & 17th, 18th, 19th. All shows begin at 8:00pm sharp. Admission is $15. Tickets and more information can be obtained by visiting www.fakebrain.net.
